Prof. Dingxin Liu

Xi'an Jiaotong University, China

Dingxin Liu received his bachelor degree and PhD of Electrical Engineering from Xi'an Jiaotong University, China on 2004 and 2010, respectively. He used to study in Loughborough University, UK as a visiting student from 2008 to 2009. He has been engaged in the research field of cold atmospheric pressure plasmas and their biomedical applications from 2008, particularly the plasma-liquid interaction and its relative applications in psoriasis and abdominal infection, as well as the production mechanism and control of reactive species in chemically reactive plasmas. More than 60 journal papers have been published, and the total SCI citation is 800+ (Web of Science Core Collection). He has given invited talks in several international academic conferences.
